2.07 MOSES IS BORN

EXODUS 2

Many years before a man called Moses was born, Joseph had helped Egypt prepare for a great famine. There were seven good years when plenty of food grew. Then came seven hard years when food did not grow. Because God had given Joseph wisdom, Egypt had stored food. People came to Joseph to buy food so their families would not go hungry.

Joseph's family had moved from the land of Canaan to be with Joseph and to be taken care of. They lived in the land of Goshen now. They lived there through this time of famine. Their families grew bigger. As a result, there were lots of Jacob's family in the land. They were called Hebrews.

After many years, Joseph died. Then a cruel and wicked king had become Pharaoh of Egypt. He did not remember Joseph or his family. This new king did not like the Hebrew people. He was afraid there would be more and more Hebrew children born. He was afraid the Hebrews would become more powerful than the Egyptians.

Pharaoh had a plan to kill all of the baby boys who were born to the Hebrew women. He commanded the Hebrew women to throw their baby boys into the river when they were born. There were a lot of mothers who were very sad because of this. One mother decided to secretly keep her baby boy. She made a basket and put him in it. She placed it in the bushes in the water. The basket began to float down the river, and she told her daughter to follow and watch after it.

At that time, Pharaoh's daughter, was coming down to the river with her servants to bathe in the river. She saw the baby floating on the water and became very excited. She got the basket out of the water and saw the Hebrew baby inside. She wanted to keep him!

Now the sister who had followed her baby brother as he floated down the river, came quickly to Pharaoh's daughter and said, "Do you need a nurse for the baby?" Pharaoh's daughter said, "Yes! Go get a Hebrew woman to nurse this baby. I will pay her." Immediately, the girl ran to get her own mother. Her mother could be the nurse to her own son!

Therefore, this little Hebrew baby became the child of Pharaoh's daughter. She named him Moses, which means "to pull-out and deliver", because she had pulled him out of the water. He would grow up to deliver and lead the Hebrew people back to the land of Canaan.

God saw Moses when it was a dangerous time. God protected Moses. God had a plan for Moses. God sees us too. Even when life is scary or difficult, we can trust God. He watches over His people and works out His good plans.

We can trust God because He sees us, cares for us, protects us, and works out His good plans!

Key Verse Psalms 46:1 "God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble."
